A Lumber Strike

lumber industry and its workers involve an economic danger even more serious than the steamship strike. If the lumber unions decide to strike at the end of this month the economy of British Columbia will be crippled.

The union is demanding a wage increase of 10 per cent. The industry says that it cannot pay this or, indeed, any increase under present conditions. Apparently management prefers a strike to a wage increase

It is true, as the union says, that lumber production has risen on the coast in the first three months 1958 above the figures of 1957 and for that reason, the union says, the industry can well afford a wage increase.

But volume, of course, is not the only criterion of any industry's ability to pay higher wages. The more important criterion is profit. As the published reports of all the large lumber companies show, profits have fallen drastically in the last year. Without exception the major, integrated companies are making less money than they have made in modern times and one of them actually is suffering losses.

The union replies that the in-dustry made huge profits in the past and may make them again in the future. Therefore, it can pay more wages. How can it pay more wages today out of profits earned in the past, already re-invested and beyond recovery? How can it afford to guarantee wages out of future profits that may never be earned? How can it cover a wage increase by increasing its prices when it must sell in a world market where competition has sharply reduced all lumber prices during the last year?

In the lumber industry of the Pacific Northwest States the union way, for a long time to come.

zation of the United Nations

THE PRESENT NEGOTIATIONS has realized these facts and decided not to seek any wage increase this year. Yet the British Columbia industry is asked to increase its costs of operation when its chief com-petitor in the United States and world markets is the American industry next door. (It should be noted also that the automobile workers, in the United States' largest industry, have abandoned their earlier plan for a strike, knowing that the industry is in trouble and their jobs in peril.)

The British Columbia lumber industry also is in trouble and the jobs of the lumber workers in peril. If the industry cannot meet the world price for lumber it will reduce its operations and its payroll. If, in the face of this danger, the lumber union goes on strike next month British Columbia will lose its chie payroll altogether, for an indefinite period. Beside that disaster the pamship strike, serious as it is,

would be a minor inconvenience It is to be hoped, therefore, that the union, on second thoughts, will remember several important facts:

A strike in the pulp and paper industry last winter cost British Columbia something like $50,000,000 in lost wages and earnings, and in the end the union returned to work the terms offered by management in the beginning.

Wages in the lumber industry, increased a year ago to avoid a strike, have advanced in the last decade far more than the cost of living

The world lumber market is now more competitive than it has ever been since the last war.

The profits of the British Columbia industry have fallen greatly. And a strike at this time would benefit nobody but our foreign competitors who, seizing our markets while our industry was idle, would probably retain them, in part any-seldom makes sensational news but it has been making sensational progress in man's war against disease. At its present sessions in Minneapolis W.H.O. was able to report a series of almost unbelievable successes that would have been impossible without the co-operation of eighty-eight national governments. They quarrel about other things. They are united, above their ideo-logical divisions, in the pursuit of health.

Dr. M. G. Candau of Brazil, director-general of W.H.O., says that "we are taking practical steps to eradicate certain communicable diseases from the face of the earth. Only a few years ago this was considered a utopian dream. Eradication has now become a guiding principle in health."

Ten years ago, Dr. Candau re-calls, about three hundred million afflicted with malaria which is still the world's number one disease. The concerted inter- organize the world against disease national campaign carried out by all its co W.H.O. has reduced the incidence of justified.

W.H.O. is confident that the same success can be achieved by the work now under way in Asia and Africa. Dr. Candau believes that syphilis, small-pox and tuberculosis can be eliminated by the end of this century. Extraordinary progress is being made against leprosy.

All this, and the present international attack on cancer and heart disease, was impossible until many nations amalgamated their health policies. ### Looking South

SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE A United States House Inter-American Affairs Committee has recently investigated the indignities to which Vice-president Richard Nixon was subjected during his South American tour.

It has been told by Mr. Roy R. Rubottom, assistant secretary of state, that the demonstrations against the vice-president were spearheaded by a few communists and, in Peru, were carried out on different occasions by the same 50 or 75 people who made up the hostile

Furthermore, says Mr. Rubottom, "everywhere he was accorded a genuinely friendly and warm welcome by those people, broadly representative of their nations, who received him, and who had not been influenced by a small, insidious and organized minority to commit inhospitable or violent acts against him."

This is a gratifying report. It-provides an explanation lacking at the time when Mr. Nixon was being and his flag. The nature of the explanation predisposes those who hear it to accept it.

But there is another point made Rubottom. He describes Latin America as an area of dynamic progress and vigorous people which would become ever more important to the United States from an economic, political and military stand-

To this he adds: "It is high time that Americans in general discover Latin America. This is no longer an area of sambas and manana.

If the Nixon episode explanation is acceptable, doubly so should be

And it might be applied farther north. We in the western hemisphere seem to harbor an amazing ignorance of those who share it with us.

We hope Mr. Rubottom's people will take his words to heart and attempt discovery both north and While we are hoping for this, maybe we of the north might look south and make our own discoveries, not only immediately below the 49th insulted, together with his country parallel but also below the equator.

Uncommon Horse Sense

THE great, redeeming virtue, of the I democratic process is that it seldom means exactly what it says. It says the most absurd things from time to time, especially at election time, but seldom does them. It often denies the obvious facts but in the end accommodates itself to them. Of which we are now witnessing a classic example Canada.

Just a year ago we were being told by many eminent states-men that the internal policies of the existing Canadian Government were pushing the Hutchison ation into a business the democratic process Accordingly, elected a new government which prosed to change those policies.

The recession had started, in fact, in the first days of 1957, though few suspected it at the time, economic statistics always lagging behind events. By autumn, however, the recession was visible to everybody. The new Govern-ment blamed it on the former Governent and proposed to cure it by a change of internal policy.

THE real facts thus were denied by both Governments. The Liberal Gov ernment denied the threat of a recession, at least a recession in the near future for its statistics were lagging) while the new Government denied the basic the new Government denied the basic cause of the recession which was not internal, but foreign. In the last few days, however, the facts at last have been getting their heads up through the crust of politics.

In his most revealing speech so far Mr. Diefenbaker, at Montreal, says that the recession is mainly due to interna-tional factors, to a fall in the world market for our exports and the recession in the United States. Thus he quietly repudiates the basic thesis of his two victorious election campaigns. He has learned a great deal in eleven months of government. There is the virtue of the democratic process—it teaches govern-ments with remarkable rapidity.

hours after he had announced in Mont-real that our recession stems mainly out of world conditions, beyond Canadian control, Mr. Howard Green rose in Par-liament and, infuriated by the Opposition's sniping, announced that the reces-sion was the result of the former Government's blunders. Apparently Mr. Green had not heard Mr. Diefenbaker's Montreal speech.

There can be no doubt, of course, that the former Government made many blunders, some of them fatal to its exist-There can be no doubt either that the Conservative Opposition made many blunders also, among them the notion that, once in office, it could cure the recession by Act of Parliament.

THE important thing for the ordinary democrat who is not enchanted by any particular party is that both the present Government and the present Opposition have recognized their blunders. They are learning fast in the universal university of the democratic process. After the genial celebrations of two election campaigns, they have entered the graduating class and are getting down to serious study. Montreal, one may say with respect, Mr. Diefenbaker earned his degree in eco-

Much more study, however, is required among statesmen and ordinary men. The next honors course will take men. The next honors course will take even go among them, except in armed the form of the annual budget, which groups." has yet to be introduced at this writing.

BY HIS first budget Mr. Diefenbaker D hopes to accomplish many useful improvements and only a fool will hope that he fails. His failure here, or any-where else, may comfort a few Liberal or CCF politicians. It could comfort no one else. For all of us, directly or indirectly, are involved in the recession, in the taxes used to cure it, in the huge deficits resulting from it, in the debts that we must all repay one of these days, in the inflation which, oddly enough, accompanies a fall in business

Whatever the budget may contain, we now have a new clarity of mind in Government. It recognizes, after a year's confusion, that for all its expense itures, tax changes and deficits it cannot pull Canada's economy up by the boot straps.

It can do something to be sure. can cushion the effects of the recession. It can relieve human misery. It can redistribute wealth more fairly. It can create some employment by public works, though not very much in relation to the need (half a million Canadians being out But real recovery, as Mr. Diefenbaker now knows, can come only with im-provements in our basic, exporting industries. of jobs at the peak of summer activity.)

THAT knowledge of itself is a great gain. Our democracy is emerging from the eleven-month fog. It has not fully emerged, though. No politician in Ottawa (except a senator or two who doesn't have to be elected) has yet all-namely, that the nation, under both Governments, has been living beyond its means, or the means of its customers, which is the same thing; that the adjustment to our real means will be painful ment to our real means will be painful (of which various strikes are the out-ward evidence); that, apart from the unemployed, the nation is still living very well despite the recession; and that despite the budget or anything Mr. Diefenbaker can do in a hurry the nation will not live better for some time

WHEN these facts are admitted by statesmen and ordinary men new graduating class of democracy will have earned its degree in the most uncommon course of study, the study of

DAVID'S District is one the many grandiose mountain masses of this country of the Kabyles—the "free people," as the pre-Arab inhabitants of

FROM TIZI OUZOU, ALGERIA

Algeria prefer to call themselves. The mountains of the Djebel Aissa Mimoun, dun-colored at this season, surge steeply upward from the valley floor. Olive groves, fig orch-ards, and little patches of barley and millet cling to the moun-tain's flanks. And on the upmost crests, built so that each village almost defiantly occupies its own lonely crag or peak, are the tiny, white Alsop washed, earth-built houses of the District's 10,000 to 12,000 people.

This is a region of many grim but interesting problems. For example, since the French subdued the Kabyles, the population has increased at such a fearful rate that the Kabyle land now only feeds its people for three months each year. The little villages on the mountain tops chiefly live, nowadays, by exporting labor to metropolitan France.

But from David's point of view, the most immediate problem presented by the Djebel Aissa Mimoum was its ideal character as guerilla country. He came character as guerila country. He came here just about two years ago, from an assignment in Hong Kong as officer of the French intelligence. One of the few who were really informed about Communist China, David made a lot of newspaper friends in Hong Kong. This was why he was suddenly burdened with a weekend guest, here in this remote

The school teachers were soldiers in uniform, whose rifles hung by the blackboard. But the hundred or so little boys and girls in the two class who had never had any sort of school teacher, seemed to be learning their ABC's with cheerful enthusiasm all the

A long day's climbing around and over the Djebel Aissa Mimoun gave much more evidence of the same sort. In all the villages, French soldiers were running schools and French medics had opened infirmaries. In all villages, small self-defence forces had been formed. There were practical improvements too. One village had a new fountain which gave good water, even in the most parched weeks of summer. Another had just built itself one of the goat-track, roads—a real miracle, this goat track—and had immediately invested in a communal truck.

Grip Broken

No doubt, the old officer who has now succeeded David as company com-mander and district officer did his very best to put the district's best foot for-ward. Sometimes, indeed, his eagerness carried him rather ludicrously far. But there was no doubt either that the fellagha's absolute grip on the Djebel Aissa Mimoun had now been broken. They ruled the Djebel no longer.

With voluble enthusiasm, David de scribed how the job had been done, Oddly enough the fellaghas owe their defeat on Diebel Aissa Mimoun to the theory on Djebel Aissa Mimoun to the theory of Mao Tse-Tung's, that an army must live among the people "like a fish in water." The whole process started when David moved his company from an isolated, fortified farmhouse into the very midst of one of the hostile villages. From there, the process went by steps. Getting the people to work for the company was the first step. The next was strengthening their confidence that the company would protect them from the fellagha's vengeance,

Rebel Defeat

A great turning point was an old man's night-time visit to give the names of the fellagha cell-members who held his village in a ruthless grip. Another turning point was the destruction, in a series of sharp clashes, of the Djebel Aissa Mimoun local rebel field force. In this manner, gradually and village by village, the whole Diebel was in fact reconquered.

"It can be done everywhere," said David, who was given his promotion to major for doing it here. One could not help wondering whether doing it "everywhere" in troubled Algeria might not strain the supply of men of David's char-acter as well as the French army's supply of ordinary manpower. But David's district was a striking exhibit all the

The Right to Speak Out

May I thank the editors of the Times for the unprejudiced way in which they brought Dr. Davidon's outstanding address on "banning the bomb" to the at-

The press has a heavy responsibility in our time. If it is to defend our freedom and its own, it must give impartial coverage to people whose ideas may di-rectly oppose traditional ways of thinking and acting. Without this backing, in-

Judging by the large audience and the ovation given to Dr. Davidon, many Victorians are beginning to believe that recent scientific developments have out-moded the building of armaments as a method of national defence. There are many of us who believe that meeting hostility with hostility cannot fail to create more hostility; that nuclear we not deter but incite to war; and that way ing a stick at anybody—especially an in-sane person—almost always provokes

It is good to be able to say these things loudly and publicly, without meeting hints of "Red infiltration." It is just this freedom to speak and act in the hope of producing a better society that makes way of life different from that of a totalitarian and static state.

ROSEMARY HAMILTON

'Solid Piece of Wark'

Permit me to refer to the report of Dr. Brock Chisholm's address as it appeared in a recent issue of The Times. There is some of it with which I agree. But it is his reference to the missionary activity of the Christian Church that prompts this letter. Dr. R. A. Felton of Drew University in a recent book, "Hope Rises From the Land," refers to the work of Canadian Baptists in Bolivia. Under the in fluence of Baptist Missionaries freedom and hope have come to these people. Senor A. Perez, in charge of all rural schools in Bolivia says of this Baptist "we consider this the most successful of all projects to rehabilitate the native people." A Bolivian senator declares, "This type of work should be extended all over Bolivia." While the President of the Republic affirms, "The Canadian Baptist gave us the basic draft for our present land reform." ichools and churches have been estab lished. Out of these now are coming teachers and preachers to lead and up lift their own people. All this has hapned in the last twenty years.

While Rev. A. I. Higgins was travelling in India, a high Indian government official said to him, "The missionaries are the only people who come to our ntry to give and take nothing a failure as Dr. Chisholm has outlined surely the Presidency of Madras would not have entrusted the oversight of 1, 000 schools in that area to christian missionaries.

Other denominations can give equal-stirring accounts of their activity. The church is not perfect. What or-ganization is? But here is a solid piece of work that is being done. It is not a bit of idealistic philosophy, but a solid fact. Surely the world is not poorer be-cause of it. There is little danger that the jungle will take over after the real work of the Christian Missions is done; even though there is some evidence that the jungle has become predominant in the mind of some people in Christian

Written in 1921, when The Manchester Guardian celebrated its centenary, this article or essay still commands the attention and respect of all conscientious

In 1921, Mr. Scott had been with The Manchester Guardian for a little over 50 years, and had been its responsible editor for almost half a century. And much of The Guardian's great reputation was due to the liberalism and courage of Mr. Scott. "In all living things there must be a certain unity, a principle of vitality and growth," wrote Mr. Scott. "It is so with a newspaper. and the more complete and clear this unity the more vigorous and fruitful the growth."

A newspaper had two sides to it, he wrote It was a business, like any other, and had to pay in the material sense to live.
"But," he continued, "it is much more than a business; it is an institution; it reflects and it influences the life of a whole community; in its way, an instrument of government. It It may educate, stimulate, assist, or it may do the opposite. It has, therefore, a moral as well as a material existence, and its character and influence are in the main determined by the balance of these two forces. It may make profit or power its first object, or it may conceive itself as fulfilling a higher, more exacting function."

Mr. Scott then spoke of character.
"Character is a subtle affair and has many shades and sides to it. It is not a thing to be much talked about, but rather to be felt. It is the slow deposit of past actions and ideals. It is for each man his most precious possession, and so it is for that latest growth of time the newspaper.

The paper's primary office was the gather ing of news, said Mr. Scott. "At the peril of its soul it must see that the supply is not tainted. Neither in what it gives, nor in what it does not give, nor in the mode of presenta-tion must the unclouded face of truth suffer wrong. Comment is free, but facts are sacred. Propaganda,' so called, by this means is hateful. The voice of opponents no less than that of friends has a right to be heard. Comment also is justly subject to a self-imposed restraint. It is well to be frank; it is even better to be fair. This is an ideal. Achievement in such matters is hardly given to man, We can but try, ask pardon for shortcomings, and there leave the matter."

There is more to the article than this. Moreover, in this volume that I have beside me, it is followed by the leading article for July 2, 1955.

Both these, I feel, should be included in any course on journalism.

The X-Ray Man

Many persons may think that a roentge nologist, or X-ray man, is a sort of photo grapher whose main job is to make X-ray pictures of roentgenograms of various parts of the body. Actually, today, a roentgenologist seldom makes any roentgenograms. He spends his time running a department and diagnosing from films or, in the case of heart or stomach, colon, displaced discs and other troubles, from what he sees in what is called a fluoroscope. For part of his day he sits in a dark room and looks at what shows up on a fluorescent screen. Often he watches a barium meal go down the gullet and then through the stomach and bowel of the patient. Later, he will inect a watery suspension of barium into the rectum, and will watch this flow upward and around through the colon. As it goes, he will watch for cancers and "polyps" and other abalities there are a number of special techniques necessary for showing up the insides, of certain organs, such as the gallbladder, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowel, and the In order to reveal the insigallbladder, a substance is given which is picked up by the liver and excreted into the bile. Similarly, when the X-ray man wants to show the inside of the kidneys, he gives chemical which is excreted in The substance that comes out in the hile or the urine is opaque to the X-rays, and hence can be seen against the fainter shadow of the soft tissues of the body this type takes a fremendous amount of skill and experience, and the physician who is going to go into this work must first have his MD and then must spend years getting his technical education in roentgenology. Eventually, if he passes a thorough ex-amination, he will get a special diploma from a national board. This makes him a registered specialist,

Oftentimes, a man is called a radiologist when he uses, in addition to the roentgen or x-rays, rays from radium, or from a cobalt bomb, or radio active isotopes, or from one of the new power-

In thousands of cases a patient's life is saved when the roentgenologist spots a small cancer in the stomach or the bowel or the lung. Many a time a man's life depends on the ability of the x-ray man to say that an ulcer is in the bowel just outside the stomach rather than in the stomach itself. In the one case, there need be no fear of cancer, while in the other case, cancer will have to be considered seriously. Very difficult, often, is the decision whether a man's terrible backache is due to a so-called displaced disc or to an ordinary arthritis. If the x-ray man makes a mistake, the patient may be submitted to a needless and futile opration.

ALBERNI (CP)-A three-car collision on Beaver Creek Road injured one driver Wednesday.

Richard Plaunt, 18, was taken to West Coast General Hospital where his injuries are reported not serious.

RCMP said the youth was driving south on Beaver Creek Road and attempted to pass between a car parked on the right-hand side of the road and an oncoming vehicle. His car struck the northbound vehicle, then swung over and hit the other car. Damage was considerable.

Whether you're off for a day at the lake, or a month-long trip in the mountains, a handsome new Ford wagon is the popular way to get there!

No wonder Canadians buy so many Ford Station Wagons! They're the smartest "space ships" on the road . . . with smooth-yet-sporting lines, distinctive "sculptured" styling and color-keyed interiors.

Beneath the beauty lies the brawn of the husky 'Inner Ford.' Its heavy frame is bowed out to let you ride inside the chassis in greatest comfort and safety. Six cross-braces span the roof for extra support and rigidity. And all Ford wagons for 58 have a new, easier-riding suspension that provides up to 15% smoother going, even with full work loads. So, whether it's kids or cargo you're carrying, you ride in comfort in the 58 Ford!

Ford tops the tote 'em poll with load space galore -up to 78 cubic feet in 9-passenger models. Even the boat goes along with the crew! Loading and unloading are easier, too, with Ford's new singlelatch liftgate and tailgate-both open at once with a twist of the wrist!

There's nothing to match the fun and convenience of owning a new Ford Wagon! And Ford's low prices make it easy. See your Ford Dealer soon for his wonderful wagon story!

Nothing newer in the wagon world

German-born Rudolf Messner was a practicing artist in Mr. nich and Berlin until the Second World War intervened. After World War intervened. After the war he returned to his native Bavaria and in 1951, searching for a new life for his wife and two children, he emigrated to Canada.

BRIGHT AND LIVELY

"If you were to give me a million dollars and a block of flats for my own in Germany. I would not go back," he said emphatically.
His exhibition "With Palette and Palette Knife Through Canada to British Columbia," veals a wholehearted pleasure or the Canadian lands pictures are bright and lively— a revel in paint in which Canada parkles harmoniously in easyto understand images. He paints the scenes we enjoy seeing on our holidays, and he is devoted to British Columbia.

Whether a view from atop the Malahat looking over the water to Brentwood Bay, or a jungle foliage of skunk cabbage in spring, there is no doubt these paintings will give much hap-piness to those who like their art "sane.

Messner has exhibited in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg. Kamloops and at the Vancouver Art Gallery. For some years he has been teaching night classes at Burnaby and Cloverdale.

Among his more important works since settling in B.C. are the murals he painted for the Grace Lutheran Church, Burnaby, and the more recent mural for the new United

Rental Up $1 For School Textbooks

Students in grades seven to 13 will pay $1 more for textbook rental in B.C. schools in September.

The rental increase, an nounced by education department officials Wednesday, was said to be due to rising costs.

Officials said costs have doubled since the last rental re-vision in 1951.

Texts for grades nine inclusive now will rent for $4.50 a year and for grades 10 to 13 inclusive, the price will be $5.

Commented Opposition Lead-er Robert Strachan: the department is "nibbling away at the structure of free education."

He said the government should consider his suggestion that textbooks be written in B.C. and published by the Queen's Printer at cost.

IT'S RECORD-BREAKING YEAR FOR MORRIS

Evans Motors Ltd.

Duncan

Make Morris the "other" car in your life-and love itl Once you have a Morris in the family, there's no more waiting to accomplish all the little details that make up everyday living. Your Morris simplifies everything from shopping to taking the children to and from school, You'll be amazed how easily your Morris responds to your slightest touch, how simply you cope with troublesome parking and how with 50 miles to the gallon it only costs you about $8.00 a month (average driving) to run your Morris. Everything about the Morris, the strong single-unit body so important to rugged Canadian roads, the torsion bar suspension that assures you a smooth no sway ride, the 30% power increase will capture your husband's sports car spirit.

In fact, once you start living the two car family way you'll drive your Morris more than the "other".

DOUGLAS BUILDING FORT VICTORIA—1843

By 1842 it had become clear to the Hudson's Bay Company that Britain would lose the area of the lower Columbia River below the 49th parallel to the United States. As we have seen their headquarters, Fort Van-couver, was located there, and the company now had to consider where they might establish in British territory another headquarters.

Therefore, in 1842, the Hudson's Bay Company sent James Douglas in its ship, the Ss Beaver, the first steamship on the Pacific coast, to find a suitable harbor with good farming land nearby where they could build a new fort and a new headquarters

He chose the harbor of Victoria and in 1843 he employed the Indians from the vil-lage across the harbor to help build the fort, paying them at the rate of one blanket for every 40 timbers they delivered. In a few months the fort was complete. It consisted of a few buildings surrounded by a stockade of cedar posts 100 yards square with bastions at the corners in which cannon were

The road leading from its main gate became the Fort Street of today. The old fort was finally torn down in 1860.

Soon after the fort was built a quarrel ose with the Indians of the village across the harbor. The Indians had helped them-selves to some of the company's cattle and orses and when the company demanded payment, the tribe attacked the fort. However, when the little cannon in the bastions were trained on one of the Indian buildings of the village and blew it to bits, the Indians quickly made peace. That was the first and last time the guns of the fort spoke in anger.

STUDENTS NEEDED IN COLLEGE

VANCOUVER (CP) - A top Canadian educationist said Wednesday that too many high school students are dropping out to go to work when they should be heading for the universities and colleges.

"Canada can't afford not to have these young people in the universities," Dr. George E. Hall, president of the uni-versity of western Ontario, said in an interview.

feeling the financial pinch of rising costs and salaries, he said,

More and more often we see those who are carrying youthful vigor and a youthful outlook into late middle age and what always has been considered old age. It is literally true that the clock of age has been and is being turned back. It seems a then that so many people do not take advantage of available information.

Procrastination is one of our worst enemies. We all lead busy lives and sometimes we sidestep self-improvement be-cause it seems so vague, and also so laborious. Time is at a premium. I am coming to your aid today with exercises which will kill two figure faults with one motion.

Stand with your feet a little away from the wall and your back toward the wall. Raise your arms, bending your elbows so that your lower arms are at right angles to your upper arms. If you can do so, touch your entire back to the wall and press your arms and the backs of your hands to the wall, knees stiff. Keep your knees stiff as you bend over, trying to touch your fingers to the floor in front of you. Raise your trunk and assume beginning position. Press your back and arms to the wall and continue. Do this slowly. This exercise is slim-ming to the waist and conducive to good posture.

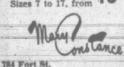

Here is another "two-timing" exercise. It slims your stomach and hips. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms rest ing on the floor overhead and ur legs straight. Raise your left arm and leg at the same time (elbow and knee stiff) and try to touch your toe with your fingertips. Return arm and leg to starting position. This time raise your right arm and leg and touch. Then return to po-If you cannot touch sition. your fingers to your toe, bring them as close together as pos-

Here it is and naturally by Revion! THEFIRST NON STICKY HAIR SPRAY Now Kevlen's improved 'SATIN-SET' holds curl in place softly .... without sticky resins! First you spray. Then comb to stay! It's that simple to have satin-soft, satin-bright curl that lasts all day! You might have known that if there were a way to leave out sticky, gummy resins, Revlon would find it first! Now you can curl your hair and keep it neat without stickiness. Hair is soft ... soft ... soft and smooth? And satin-bright because "Satin Set' leaves no flakes to dull your hair's pretty shine! unninghams $1.50 $2.00

'Member of the Wedding' Spec. a t 9.30 on 7; Eric Nicol Play at 10

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

TOPS—Calling on its top-drawer talent, Tuesday night, the CBC, through GM Theatre, proved that Cananight, the CBC, through GM Theatre, proved that Cana-dian dramatics can be as excellent as the next country's. Featuring a "team" of Lloyd Bochner, Katharine Blake and John Drainie, "Matter Principle," a play by Charles Templeton, got down to brass tacks at the open ing curtain and, in a highly professional manner, made its points and closed out with a finely etched denouement that moved one deeply.

In spirit of constructive criticism one could say that the director was guilty of allowing a sameness to enter his characterizations. In the 60-minute play about morals that saw Bochner, as a professor, carrying on a guilty love affair with Miss Blake, the wife of

Draimie, Bochner's superior at the university, even the police officer conducting an investigation into murder the quiet, gentlemanly tones employed by make a livelihood in the hallowed halls of learn-Even in the final scene, where Drainie

De Co learns that his wife does not love him, that the "Let's play cops and robbers. man he has admired and ncouraged so much has seelved him, the dia-I'll be the cop the Ty repair

logue at times emerged as academically flat as though the three were discussing the necessity of a Summit meeting or a love affair that had nothing whatsoever to do with them. Surely it would have been just a mite more life-like had one of them been allowed to real a bit even though it were only for the purpose of adding. a small theatrical fire to the smoke.

NONETHELESS, "A Matter of Principle" was car ried out with professional dispatch and Canadians watch-ing had no cause to be anything but proud of the over-all result. The only cause for alarm, possibly, is that there are not more members on "the team."

It gets so, after watching TV drama all season, that one finally believes that if Bochner, Drainle, Miss Blake, Lorne Greene, and a handful more of our topline thespians aren't in a production it comes off as a third-rater, an over-blown example of amateur stagecraft.

Therefore it would seem that Canadian drama's main objective should be, especially as far as TV is concerned, to concentrate on whatever fledgeling thespians they can discover in our nation and slowly coach them until, eventually, their talents are expanded to such a degree that they can match the talents of our best.

Only when we have more actors of professional calibre can the CBC expect to produce plays of the quality of "Matter of Principle" in quantity enough to meet the arduous demands of a television season.

More and more often we see ose who are carrying youthful vigor and a vouthful outlook into late middle age and what always has been considered old It is literally true that the clock of age has been and is being turned back. It seems a shame then that so many people do not take advantage of available information.

Procrastination is one of our worst enemies. We all lead busy lives and sometimes we sidestep self-improvement be-cause it seems so vague, and also so laborious. Time is at a premium. I am coming to your aid today with exercises which will kill two figure faults with one motion.

Stand with your feet a little away from the wall and your back toward the wall. Raise your arms, bending your elbows so that your lower arms are at right angles to your upper arms. If you can do so, touch your entire back to the wall and press your arms and the backs of your hands to the wall, knees Keep your knees stiff as you bend over, trying to touch your fingers to the floor in front of you. Raise your trunk and assume beginning position. Press your back and arms to the wall and continue. Do this slowly. This exercise is slimming to the waist and conducive to good posture.

Here is another "two-timing" exercise. It slims your stomach and hips. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms rest ing on the floor overhead and your legs straight. Raise your left arm and leg at the time (elbow and knee stiff) and try to touch your toe with your fingertips. Return arm and leg to starting position. This time raise your right arm and leg and touch. Then return to po If you cannot touch your fingers to your toe, bring them as close together as pos

THE FIRST NON-STICKY HAIR SPRAY Nowa Kevlen's improved 'SATIN-SET' holds curl in place softly ... without sticky sessins! First you spray. Then comb to stay! It's that simple to have satin-eaft, satin-bright curl that lasts all day! You might have known that if there were a way to leave out sticky, gummy resins, Revlon would find it first! Now you can curl your hair and keep it neat without stickiness. Hair is soft ... soft ... soft and smooth! And satin-bright because

'Satin-Set' leaves no flakes to dull your hair's pretty shine!

Whether you're off for a day at the lake, or a month-long trip in the mountains, a handsome new Ford wagon is the popular way to get there!

Beneath the beauty lies the brawn of the husky 'Inner Ford.' Its heavy frame is bowed out to let you ride inside the chassis in greatest comfort and safety. Six cross-braces span the roof for extra support and rigidity. And all Ford wagons for 58 have a new, easier-riding suspension that provides up to 15% smoother going, even with full work loads. So, whether it's kids or cargo you're carrying, you ride in comfort in the 58 Ford!

Ford tops the tote 'em poll with load space galore -up to 78 cubic feet in 9-passenger models. Even the boat goes along with the crew! Loading and unloading are easier, too, with Ford's new singlelatch liftgate and tailgate-both open at once with a twist of the wrist!

There's nothing to match the fun and convenience of owning a new Ford Wagon! And Ford's low prices make it easy. See your Ford Dealer soon for his wonderful wagon story!
